A PROPOSAL FOR BAR GUAU
GUAU
PUERTO PEÑASCO, SONORA

WHEN A TOURIST
GOOGLES
“BAR IN ROCKY POINT”
DOES YOUR BAR SHOW UP

YOUR MARKET

2.1 MILLION

tourists show up in Puerto Peñasco every year.

In one peak month (July 2024) alone: 163,000
visitors and roughly $11 million USD in spending.

Peñasco, via Rocky Point 360 & El Imparcial, 2023–2024*

PEAK WEEKEND

90%

of Rocky Point Rally
attendees come from the southwestern US.

Nearly 8,000 motorcycles. Around 15,000 tourists.
Local sales spike 30% during the four-day event.
Twice per year.

BEFORE THEY CROSS THE BORDER

8H 44M

average time a US traveler spends researching a trip in the 45 days before they book.

They view 141 pages of travel content. 61% of them use a search engine. If you're not in those pages, you don't exist to them yet.

(70,000+ traveler study)*

WHERE THEY FIND PLACES TO EAT & DRINK

of restaurant customers discover restaurants on Google. More than any other platform.

51% say Google is the single best place to research a restaurant. Social media is a distant second.

THE FACEBOOK-ONLY PROBLEM

77%

of diners check the restaurant's website before they decide to visit.

Nearly 70% have been talked out of going somewhere by what they saw (or didn't see) on the site. No website is just as bad as a bad one.

REAL-TIME FOOT TRAFFIC

of "near me" searches turn into a real visit within 24 hours.

Searches for "___ near me tonight" have grown 900%. Half of all Google searches have local intent. Your customer is in the parking lot,

THE BOTTOM LINE

89%

of consumers say a small business should have a website.

80% of Gen Z and Millennials research a business online before their first visit. That's every spring breaker, every road-tripper, every tourist couple from Tucson.
